Garden Musicals Is Pretty Compliment To Bride-elect

An al fresco musicale and tea was the charming form taken by Mrs. Frances Summers of Newport Heights, in complimenting Mrs. Martha Kelsey, so soon to be the bride of Dr. W. C. Leitch of Orange, and the party, given yesterday afternoon, proved to be as delightful as guests had anticipated.

Mrs. Summers' home in its lovely garden setting, overlooks both sea and bay, and the inspiring view played a definite part in the enjoyment of the guests. The garden, with its growing flowers, had small tables scattered over the grass under the shade of vivid beach umbrellas, and these were used for serving refreshments at the tea hour.

The musical program was provided by Vladimir Lensek, talented violinist, who played a number of Miss Kelsey's favorite melodies, including "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms," "Le-gende," "Humoresque" and "The Rosary." Mrs. C. H. Seaman of La Habra served as accompanist. In addition to his delightful musical program, the artist spoke informally on the history of the violin, and displayed his own priceless violin over 400 years old.

During the course of the afternoon Miss Kelsey was presented with an assortment of lovely gifts for use in her future home. This interval was succeeded by the tea hour when ices and cake were served with wafers and tea. As a unique feature, Mrs. Summers told fortunes for her guests with the aid of tea leaves, that for her young honoree being an especially happy one, foretelling the marriage as an event of the end of June.

Asked to share the pleasant afternoon with hostess and honoree were the latter's mother, Mrs. W. M. Kelsey, Mrs. R. B. Woodside and Mrs. M. Hearn, Garden Grove; Mrs. A. W. Leitch, Mrs. G. W. Stew, Orange; Mrs. Mary R. Robertson, Mrs. Neal Belsel, Mrs. Roy Beall, Mrs. S. I. Preble, Mrs. Howard Wassum, Mrs. Earl Norris, Mrs. E. V. Legion Auxiliary Will Sell Show Tickets

In raising money to defray their expenses at the state convention of the American Legion and auxiliary in Long Beach in a few weeks, members of the Legion Auxiliary Glee club are selling tickets for the Winnie Lightner comedy, "Gold Dust Gertie," to be featured next week June 15 to 19, at the Broadway theater.

The Glee club will sing at the convention, competing in the annual contest for the honor of recognition as the best auxiliary chorus in California, a title that is proudly held by the local club. The members have been devoting their weekly rehearsals to preparation for the contest, in which various other auxiliary choruses will seek to wrest the title from them. Expenses of attending the convention are heavy, and the singers are trying to raise all necessary funds themselves.

Through the co-operation of Norman Spowol of the theater management, they will be privileged to sell theater tickets, each member having a book of 100 tickets to dispose of. Members will be stationed on the various downtown corners each afternoon and evening of next week, and they hope to clear a goodly sum by their salesmanship.

Many Flowers Enhance Charm of Luncheon At Country Club

Of paramount interest among the past week's events was the luncheon and bridge given by Mrs. Angus J. Cruickshank at Santa Ana Country club.

Assisted in receiving by her daughters, the Misses Constance and Josephine Cruickshank, the hostess welcomed her friends amid a profusion of flowers in which the lovely rose tones predominated. The abundance of blooms afforded by the gardens of her own beautiful home, Los Alisos Rancho, was augmented by quantities of roses and other early summer blossoms sent by interested friends, until the spacious clubhouse was filled with the fragrant loveliness.

Tables were adorned with roses and were arranged in the solarium to seat groups of eight or ten, with one large round table in the lounge, where bridge tables later were called into play.

Attractive prizes chosen by the hostess were presented Mrs. M. D. Borgmeyer, Mrs. Adam Zaiser and Mrs. Alvin Worswick, holders of the three special scores.

Bride-elect Showered With Pretty Gifts In Pewter

In compliment to Miss Marian Graham, who will become the bride of Donald Woodington early in July, the latter's mother, Mrs. Harry Woodington was hostess this week at a delightful pewter shower in her home near Huntington Beach. Roses, gladioluses, geraniums, and all the rich blooms of summer, were gathered from the pretty garden of the ranch home, to enhance the party setting.

Rose tones predominated, and were especially harmonious with the appointments of the tables when arranged for a midnight supper after the evening of bridge. Nut cups and other features were in delicate pink, as were the clever centerpieces of small dolls under rosy umbrellas. Chicken salad was served with wafers, coffee and other dainties, followed by a second course of home-made ice cream and angel food cake.

Mrs. Woodington maintained the pewter idea in her prizes, giving attractive pieces in the popular ware to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hall, holders of high score, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sala, scoring second high. When the prizes were awarded, the table where Miss Graham was seated was cleared and the attractively wrapped shower gifts placed before her. Tustin Junior-Senior Banquet Is Held In "Our Village"

Always anticipated as one of the most enjoyable features of commencement week at Tustin Union high school, the annual Junior-Senior banquet held Thursday evening in Hotel Laguna in "Our Village," proved to be all that fancy had painted it in enjoyment and charm.

One hundred and twenty guests were present to share the entertainment planned by Miss Mary Dunstan, and the clever adaptation of the South Sea motif to dinner table appointments. An exotic effect was attained in table decorations, and favors of leis in bright colors gave charm and gaiety to the scene. Tiny outrigger canoes served as nut cups, and paddles for the canoes provided place cards.

Junior class members as hosts planning the hospitality, were congratulated upon the success of their entertaining. After the school song was given as the opening number, Joe Barnett as toastmaster, called upon various members for short toasts, and their responses proved quite original and clever. Dean Benton responded to the subject, "Blow Guns;" Miss Dorothy Penman talked on "Boomerangs;" Miss Josephine Brader had "Outriggers" as her theme; James Watson spoke on "Head Hunters," and Philip Newman, retiring president of the student body had "Aloha" as his theme.

The professional wedding march was played by Miss Florence Rumph, sister of the bridegroom, and the young people took their places before an improvised altar banked with ferns and flowers. The bride, a lovely gown of white satin made floor length, the filmy veil following the brunet, was most attractive in a long line of her gown. Her veil was held with a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried an arm bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses. The strand of pearls which the bride wore was a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Loretta Kinshaw, of Pasadena, was bridesmaid and was charming in a frock of pale blue georgette. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Dr. Lavin Bramwell of Olive, served Dr. Rumph as best man.

Following the ceremony cakes and ice were served. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Rumph, wore a gown of black crepe and a corsage of pink gardenias. The bride's mother, Mrs. Peal, was in blue georgette and her corsage was of pink roses.

Dr. Rumph is a graduate of the Orange union high school and completed the medical course at the University of California, establishing an office in Orange about six months ago.

The bride also is a graduate of the University of California. The young people have established their new home at 207 North Glassell street.

She was accompanied by Miss Velma Bishop at the piano. Wayne Flinn played a trombone solo, "Trees," by Rashbach, also accompanied by Miss Bishop.

"Nocturne in E Minor" by Chopin was a piano solo by Miss Bishop and the concluding number was a violin solo by Miss Mary Mater. She played "Meditation" from Thal's by Massinet, accompanied by Miss Bishop.

Miss Ball made a farewell speech of appreciation and told of the achievements of the year, chief of which was the first annual Beta Gamma prize offered at commencement, which was won this year by Miss Marian Parsons for her outstanding work in extracurricular activities. Robert Brown, president for next year, accepted the club gavel from Miss Ball and made a short acceptance speech.

Those who enjoyed the reunion banquet were the Misses Maybelle Ball, Vernell Butler, Velma Bishop, Marian Parsons, Mary Mater, Elizabeth Riniker, Virginia Thomas, Dulcie Green, Mildred Staples, Corinne Nelson, Dorothy Cartwright, Lavinia Compton, Elva Cook and Messrs. George Griffith, Robert Brown, John "Sky" Dunlap, Wayne Flinn, Vernon Valentine, Baxter Geeting, Cardwell Morris, Ray Reinhardt, Tom Clark, Ray Gessner and Mr. and Mrs. John Tressman.

The usual business routine of Shiloh Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., was observed at the recent meeting of the order in K. P. hall, after which the members gave their attention to reports of the district convention held recently in Sacramento. Plans were made for the all-day meeting and luncheon which members will enjoy on Tuesday, June 30, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. King, 156 South Cambridge street, Orange.

The charter of the Circle was draped as a tribute to the memory of a Civil war veteran, and comrade of the G. A. R., H. E. Francisco, whose death occurred recently, and who was an honorary member of the circle.

Friends Plan Surprise
For Santa Ana Woman

Pleasant associations of former days shared by neighbors and friends in Ontario and Upland were recalled Thursday afternoon when a group of friends from the two northern cities motored to this city to spend several hours with Mrs. Sarah Alford, 721 Kilson drive. Mrs. Alford was at one time a resident of Ontario.

The affair was a complete surprise to Mrs. Alford. A delightful social afternoon took place, after which the self-invited guests served refreshments of ice cream and cake. About 20 guests were present to take part in the pleasures of the day.

ANN MEREDITH'S MIXING BOWL

Meat loaf is not exactly my idea of what is the best in a meat dish, but I heard of a wrinkle that improved this dish, tried it, and am a life-time convert to its use.

When the meat loaf is half baked cover the top thickly with thin slices of tangey cheese. The cheese will be baked into a crisp, appetizing blanket when the loaf is done, and adds incomparably to the flavor.

Toasted cheese sandwiches are favorites at any time in my house and I vary them in this fashion: Always, the cheese is freshly grated—less is needed and the loose cheese melts more readily.

Thin slices of bread are spread with mayonnaise, one slice is sprinkled thickly with the grated cheese, the other with a thin spread of prepared mustard, or a smidge of India relish.

The slices are made into sandwiches, quickly toasted, lightly buttered on one side and served before they get a chance to cool. With a good salad and a fruit dessert they make an ideal hot-weather supper.

Marshmallow Whip
3 oranges
3 bananas
1 small can grated pineapple
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 egg white beaten stiff
1 cup heavy cream
1/2 pound marshmallows, cut in quarters

Cut the marshmallows in pieces with scissors, whip the cream stiff, mix the marshmallows through the cream and let stand for 30 minutes to soften. Prepare the oranges carefully, peeling off every vestige of pith. Cut in dice, mix with the diced banana and grated pineapple.

Whip the egg white very stiff, fold through the cream marshmallow mixture, add the nut meats and diced fruit, and a little powdered sugar if the softened marshmallows have not enough sweetness to suit your taste.

Turn the whip into a mound and chill for several hours, or let it freeze in your mechanical refrigerator. The recipe makes ten servings.

I hope that someone who reads the Mixing Bowl will share with us their favorite recipe for candy, fudge, or for preserving and pickling them. I would like to publish these recipes in the near future.

Quickly Made Rolls 'n' Muffins, recipes and everything you need to know about making these hot breads will be found in this week's leaflet.

MUSIC LITERATURE ART

PERCY ALDRIDGE GRAINGER

By RUTH ANDREWS

Part I

Both England and America are quick to claim as their own that most versatile of contemporary composers, Percy Aldridge Grainger. England cites as grounds for her claim Grainger's Australian birth, while America points with pride to the position Grainger holds today as an American citizen, following his naturalization during the trying period of the World War.

To force a decision in such a case might prove difficult, but Grainger enjoys a reputation which is today world wide, unlimited by either nationality or adoption. As an artist, the unique and individual character of his genius has placed him in the front ranks, while ample proof of his versatility may be seen in the success he has won in his triple role of pianist, composer and conductor.

Everywhere, on the Continent as well as in America, the critics have been unanimous and lavish in their approval, so that Grainger's career, now at its height, has been marked by many triumphs, his path to glory ever warmed by the sun of popular favor.

Grainger was born in Brighton, Australia, not far from the city of Melbourne, on July 8, 1883. His father, John H. Grainger, was an engineer and architect, while his mother, Rose Aldridge, had been a music teacher prior to her marriage.

From his mother young Percy received his first training in piano, followed by study with Herr Louis Pabst, a prominent professor in Melbourne. At 11 he was sufficiently advanced to make his first public appearance as a pianist in a recital given in Melbourne. Success shone upon this youthful event and the critics termed the boy a "wonder child," predicting for him a glowing future.

Soon after, young Grainger set forth to Germany, for the benefit of foreign training, studying for a time with Kwast in Frankfurt-on-Main and later with the famous Busoni. In 1900, when he was 17, he gave a recital in Frankfurt, going from there to London, appearing there the following year. At once the youthful artist was acclaimed by the English press and concert-going public, and his rise to popularity was rapid.

Grainger's life was now filled with the never-ceasing activity that makes vivid the career of a concert virtuoso. Important appearances during his early 20s included his participation in the Halle concerts at Manchester in 1905, at Broadwood London concerts the same year, also before Queen Alexandra at Buckingham palace and before the Danish court at Copenhagen, where he played to such celebrities as the late king of Denmark, king of Greece and dowager empress of Russia.

The following year, 1906, was an equally important one for Grainger, not only because of his appearance with the Leeds Philharmonic orchestra and a recital which he offered in Copenhagen, but because during this year he met the famous Norwegian composer, Edvard Grieg, in London. Even during boyhood Grainger had been drawn to the music of Grieg, and this meeting with the hero of his youthful dreams was to prove an especially important event in Grainger's life.

Grieg was no less impressed by the undeniable talents displayed by young Grainger, and friendship quickly ripened between the two musicians. The entire summer of 1906 Grainger spent with Grieg in the latter's home, studying and revising Grieg's famous piano concerto, which the old Scandinavian composer had chosen for Grainger to play when Grieg was to personally conduct the work at the Leeds festival of 1907.

Indeed, Grieg's cherished dream was to have Grainger play his concerto during a European tour, for he felt Grainger to be the greatest interpreter of his work with whom he had ever come in contact, an enviable reputation which Grainger still enjoys at the present time.

(Part II in next issue.)

co), "La Ronde des Lutins" (Bazini), "Hebrew Melody" (Achorn), "Hera Staccato" (Dinkov-Helfer) and the Bruch concerto, while piano numbers will include "By the Sea" (Schubert-Liszt), "Toccata" (Paradies) and a MacDowell prelude.

ANAHEIM

Fair Sponsors Contest

The Orange County Valencia Orange Show and Fair held in Anaheim this past week sponsored an annual musical composition contest, with Kate McCullough, director of the Orange County School of Fine Arts, in charge of the feature. Both senior and junior classifications were to be divided into two groups, with previous winners of cups not eligible to compete in one division.

Compositions were to be judged on three points, proportion in musical form, command in harmonic and melodic line and suitability for voice of instrument in which the composition is written.

LOS ANGELES

U. S. C. Summer Music

Summer classes in applied music and special classes in composition and voice from June 22 to August 1 will be held during the summer at the college of music of University of Southern California.

Theoretical courses will be given at the university June 22 to July 25, and courses in music education, appreciation, elementary school music from June 27 to July 29.

Arne Oldberg of Northwestern university, pianist-composer, will conduct two summer classes in composition. Four scholarships will be awarded by the college for these courses. The college of music has a faculty of 30 members, while 11 visiting teachers will head music courses at the university's summer session.

PACIFIC COAST

California Music Conventions

Beginning June 18 and extending over a period of but a little more than three weeks, California will see four important musical conventions. These include the annual meeting of the California Federation of Music Clubs, in San Francisco, June 18 to 20. Soon after, in the same city, will follow the biennial convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs, June 20 to 27. Directly following this the annual state convention of the California Music Teachers' association will be held in Del Monte, June 27 to June 29.

Throughout the succeeding week the National Education association will convene in Los Angeles, opening July 3 and continuing until July 10.

FOREIGN

Endow Riviera Colony

A music colony on the Riviera, where young American composers may spend a year in creative work, free from all other duties, has recently been endowed by Myron H. Taylor, American industrial leader. The colony will be situated near Roquebrune, 400 feet above the sea. It is expected that the colony will be ready for occupancy this summer, with young American composers to be admitted in August.

Art Notes

Ruth Peabody, well-known painter and sculptor of Laguna, won the Evelyn N. Lawson $100 purchase prize at the sixth annual Southern California art exhibition at the Fine Arts academy at San Diego, which opened June 4 with a reception. The painting was entitled "Little Navajo" and will be added to the permanent collection.

The eighth grade class of the Laguna school purchased a fine oil painting by the young Laguna painter, Jack Leonard, as a present to the school this year. The painting was a strong and rather modern one of the "Laguna Wharf." Many who admired this picture in the recent one-man show which Leonard gave at the Fern Burford galleries likened his style to that of Millard Sheets. Mr. Leonard has just finished an exhibition at the Biltmore Salon.

Dr. and Mrs. Kurtzworth of the Los Angeles museum were among the many distinguished people of the art world of Southern California who visited Laguna and the galleries which Saturday when the art patrons committee of the Ebell club of Hollywood spent the day as guests of the artists of Laguna Beach.

Mrs. Leta K. Houston, member of the Laguna Art association and prominent Altadena artist, visited Laguna Monday. Mrs. Houston is on the committee for the artist ball being given this Friday evening at Stickney hall, Pasadena.

A fine oil painting by George K. Brandriff, brilliant Laguna artist, was given to the L. A. museum recently by Charles Haskell of Los Angeles.

BOOK REVIEWS

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Service Writer

MR. MORLEY ALSO LOOKS AT THE BYGONE YEARS

In "John Mistletoe" Christopher Morley also looks back at his own life. Need I say that this book has nothing whatever in common with "Dawn"? Dreiser's book is a book of turmoil and confusion, of strange currents and dark shadows; Morley's is gracious and urbane, mellow and cultured, a backward glance at many pleasant years.

Idyllic years at Haverford college, pre-war days at Oxford, experiences in the publishing world and in the city rooms of metropolitan newspapers—these make up Morley's remembrances. "John Mistletoe" is a book to read by snatches; delightful if assimilated in small portions, it is a trifle cloying if read all in a stretch.

The best thing about this book is the author's fine enthusiasm for other books. Christopher Morley can have the satisfaction of knowing that he has already broadened many a reader's horizon. This book should carry on the good work. Follow the author long enough on his amiable ramblings and sooner or later you will bump up against first-rate literature.

"John Mistletoe" is published by Doubleday, Doran & Co., at $2.50.

SOME MYSTERY STORIES YOU MIGHT ENJOY

Recent mystery stories you might be glad to know about include the following:

"A Murder of Some Importance," by Bruce Greene (Lippincott, $2). A French ambassador gets stabbed to death in London, and the prize dicks of England, France and Germany combine forces to catch the murderer. Extremely ingenious; a good comparative study of three schools of crime detection.

"The Hymn Tune Mystery," by George A. Birmingham (Bobbs-Merrill, $2). An organist gets killed in an English church and the clue is hidden in the notes of a hymn. Not at all bad; nicely written.

"The Night of Fear," by Moray Dalton (Harcourt, $2). A group at a house party plays one of these murder games, and naturally a real murder is done. A dizzy private dick helps Scotland Yard find out about it. Readable, but not one of the best.

"The Gyrth Chalice Mystery," by Margery Allingham (Crime Club, $1). Queer goings-on in the ancestral tower, with a hard-boiled horsewoman and a pink-faced sleuth who isn't as silly as he looks.

"Cambodian Quest," by Robert J. Casey (Bobbs-Merrill, $2). Murder in the jungles of French Indo-China. Well below Mr. Casey's standard, but pleasantly thrilling.

HORROR AND SUSPENSE IN WALPOLE'S NEW NOVEL

The jacket of "Above the Dark Tumult," by Hugh Walpole, announces that the book marks a return on Mr. Walpole's part to the manner of "Portrait of a Man With Red Hair." This is true enough; unfortunately, "Above the Dark Tumult" falls short, by several leagues, of the mark set by the former book.

A group of men is gathered in a London flat, keeping an appointment with an underworld trickster who has deeply wronged them. The man appears, there is an argument, and they set upon him and kill him. Then it becomes necessary to dispose of his body, to regain whatever mental peace may be possible and to stop the outcries of one of the group who goes half-crazed.

High blood pressure is not only dangerous, but entails suffering which often is needless. But you can get rid of the kidney and bladder weakness, blinding headaches, back-break pains and torturing nerve tension while reducing pressure.

Ask your druggist for a box of Wildunger Tee, which contains valuable mineral salts from the famous Wildunger Bad in Germany. Unless the very first box brings grateful, comforting relief, your money back.

A New York doctor while traveling in Germany was so impressed with the results thousands were securing from this great kidney and bladder activator that he brought Wildunger Tee to this country. Many American doctors now prescribe it and report that its benefits are equally surprising here.

You can get Wildunger Tee on the distinct understanding that unless it helps, your money will be refunded to you. It may be had at C. S. Kelley, druggist, 101 East 4th street, Santa Ana.—Adv.

and resolves to run out and tell a policeman about it all.

In snatches the atmosphere of fear and horror is admirably presented. When two of the men undertake to carry the body of their victim out to an auto, for instance, and meet a stranger on the stairway, and pass off the affair as a case of taking a drunk out for air, the suspense is acute; and in one or two other places Mr. Walpole manages to keep the reader on the edge of his seat in admirable style.

For the most part, however, the book does not quite produce the effect intended, and I think it is chiefly because Mr. Walpole has strung out his material just a little bit to thin. To compare it with "Portrait of a Man With Red Hair" is unjust. That, gentle reader, was a horror story for you!

AN AMERICAN CITY IS RUTHLESSLY DISSECTED

In "Big Town," Philip McKee sketches for us a typical city of the Middle West; and after getting away to an indifferent start he does a very intelligent and sympathetic job of it.

His "Big Town" is apparently a composite job. It is something like Columbus and something like Indianapolis and something like St. Paul—with overtones of Cleveland and Milwaukee. What Mr. McKee tries to do is to analyze such a city in all of its aspects—its history, its social organization, its business, its moral customs, its method of handling charity, its vices and its politics.

In the beginning there is just a trifle too much superiority in the writer's manner. But this disappears as he warms up to his task, and in the end one feels that he has been very fair. If he is ruthless in exposing typical middle-western hypocrisy and sham, he also gives credit where credit is due. His portrait hurts in places, but his strictures seem, in the main, eminently justified. Certainly many a reader will recognize a glimpse or two of his own city in Mr. McKee's description.

Some such book as this has been badly needed for a long time. We need a fresh appraisal of the strange, exciting city civilization that our middle west has produced. Mr. McKee has not contributed the last word, by any means, but he has made a very good beginning.

THE THRILLING TALE OF A SOLDIER OF FORTUNE

Military fame of a different sort is studied in "The Incredible Yank," by Herman B. Deutsch (Longmans, Green & Co.; $3.50). This is a biography of the famous General Lee Christmas, last and perhaps the greatest of the American soldiers of fortune who poked around in the muddy waters of Central American revolution.

Christmas was originally an American railroad engineer. Discharged because he got drunk and caused a wreck, he wandered to Honduras and ran a locomotive there. A revolution swept him into war against his will; compelled to fight, he fought so ably that for more than a decade he was perhaps the most influential figure in Central America, making and unmaking presidents and causing Uncle Sam no end of worry.

Mr. Deutsch tells the tale well, exploding dozens of the old myths but revealing cold facts that are even more exciting than legend. The most able part of the book, I think, is its conclusion, dealing with General Christmas' old age.

There is something extremely pathetic about the old soldier's last years, when poverty and obscurity good soldier of fortune, but he did not die soon enough. His story ought to end on a high note—before a firing squad, perhaps, or in a jungle fight. Instead it fizzles out, no romantic hero ever ought to live too long.

TALBERT

TALBERT, June 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Holcknecht and family, who are former local residents of Talbert, have returned to their local ranch from Santa Ana, where they have lived for several years.

The Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Laird were accompanied home from Los Angeles by a friend Saturday evening and on Monday took her on a trip to San Diego.

W. Jennings and Harvey Warner spent Monday fishing on the barge off Newport and were successful in catching yellowtail, barracuda and bonita.

BOOK OF SOUTHLAND SCENES CREDIT TO LOCAL ARTISTS

Continuing to reflect credit upon the ability of Thomas Williams, director of printing at the high school and junior college print shop, as a publisher of the unusual and exceptionally attractive types of printing, a scenic volume is just off the press at the school print shop and went on sale today at the Santa Ana Book store.

A pleasing combination of types, color and paper is worked out to form the background for some really fine linoleum blocks illustrating scenes in Southern California, which are original in execution and most appealing.

Opposite each scene is a bit of verse pertaining to the picture shown. The scenes were designed and cut in linoleum by Jean Goodwin, graduate of the Santa Ana high school and the Chicago institute of Art. The verse is by Eleanor Hammack Northcross, dean of women of the Santa Ana junior college. The color blocks were printed by Arthur Ames, a graduate of the California School of Fine Arts, San Francisco, and Williams and the whole was directed by the publisher.

The scenes illustrated in the book are as follows: "The Torrey Pine," "The Swallows of San Juan Capistrano," "The Rocks of Laguna," "Olvera Street," "In the West Basin," "San Pedro," "Palm Canyon," "The Song of California," and "Catalina."

The first shows a rugged pine of the unique species found only in certain sections of the Pacific coast; the second, the beautiful gardens at the San Juan Capistrano mission with the swallows returning to their nests as they do every year on a feast day; the third, the seas battering the rocks off Laguna Beach; the fourth, that typical Spanish setting in that market section of Old Los Angeles, with the spire of the new city hall arising in the background; the fifth, ships in the harbor; the sixth, the lofty palm trees in the desert canyon; the seventh, a restful view across an orange grove and the foothills to the snow-capped mountains; and the eighth, the bay at Catalina Island with its burden of pleasure craft.

The cover of the publication is distinguished by a reproduction of a stately desert yucca in bloom under the night sky, printed in black and silver on the soft green of the cover.

The publication is the third of note from the press of the school under the direction of Williams, who is winning considerable recognition among the leaders in his craft for this work. The others were "Camino Viejo," a historical sketch written by T. E. Stephenson, and the second was the first publication of the Orange County

USE OF MAIN TO SEEK AIR ROADS HINDER MARK ON NEW TO MOTORISTS COURSE HERE

Among the suggestions for making motor touring more comfortable and enjoyable is that motorists stay off the heavily traveled highways and use the comfortable secondary roads that are comparatively deserted. According to experts, approximately 15 per cent of the highways carry 90 per cent of the traffic. On Saturdays and Sundays the main highways carry a procession, bumper to bumper and wheel to wheel, while the secondary roads are being used by few, if any, motorists.

Attention was called to the "back to secondary roads" movement in order that more motorists may leave the herd and find pleasant running conditions on highways that are comparatively neglected. It is pointed out that greater use of the secondary highways would scatter traffic sufficiently so that congestion would be relieved on the main arteries and the secondary roads would carry more nearly their share of the load.

Dedicating the newly completed Orange county airplane speed course to the bringing of all air speed records to the Pacific Coast, Frank Kurtz, 18-year-old Hollywood high school youth, will pilot a fast biplane over the three-kilometer course Sunday afternoon, June 14, at 2 p. m. in an assault on the junior air speed mark.

The course, which is marked by concrete monuments and airplane panels, parallels Ocean avenue directly north of Seal Beach and begins a half-mile east of Los Alamitos avenue. Through the co-operation of Nat H. Neff, engineer of Orange county, the course was laid out and monuments erected by the Union Oil company. It is constructed in accordance with specifications of the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, International governing body in all matters related to aeronautical achievements, and the National Aeronautic association, and is the only official air speed course west of Detroit.

The first to officially utilize the new speed course, Kurtz, who has been flying since last December, will sit at the controls of a Waco taperwing biplane powered with a Wright 225-horsepower motor. The ship has been streamlined throughout to give additional speed.

Kurtz holds a F. A. I. and N. A. A. sporting license, is a member of the Aviation Country club, and is regarded as one of the ablest junior pilots in the country. He took over the controls of the Waco taperwing shortly after being granted his private pilot's license and has more than 50 hours on this ship to his credit.

He is also a swimmer and diver of national repute, holding the national junior championship in 2-foot diving and the far western championship in the 35-foot diving. He will represent the Hollywood Athletic club at the National A. A. U. swimming meet at Honolulu next month, and plans to enter the University of Southern California in the fall. He is a candidate for the U. S. Olympic swimming team during the tenth Olympiad in 1932.

Kurtz' flight will be made under N. A. A. supervision, with Joe Nikrent, Southern California representative of the association, acting as official timer and observer. Under conditions outlined by the N. A. A., contestants for speed honors, while being permitted a dive into the course, must level off not more than 160 feet from the ground 800 meters before coming into the course.

The course must be flown twice in each direction within the space of one-half hour.

TIRE COST LOWEST NOW SINCE 1924

Automobile tires are lower in price this year than at any time since 1924. This is due largely to the decline in the price of crude rubber.

Not only are the tires lower in price, but other factors of economy enter into the purchase, it is stated. Continuously improved highways and the constant reduction in blow-outs and other injuries, the merger of tire manufacturing concerns, have played an important part in keeping prices down. Six years ago there were 125 manufacturers of tires and tubes in the country, and today there are less than one-third that number, it is reported.

A better condition also exists in the various sizes of tires and tubes. These have been standardized and the economy thus effected has been passed along to the consumer. Only a few years ago there were 43 sizes of balloon tires, but today these have been standardized into 17 sizes. Each year sees a larger mileage achieved from tires.

TO DEDICATE AIRPLANE SPEEDWAY

In the upper left photograph you look west from the east end of the new official airplane speed course in Orange county. Note the monument and airplane panel. In the oval is shown Frank Kurtz, youthful pilot, who will dedicate the new course tomorrow in an assault on the junior air speed record. Joe Nikrent, representative of the N. A. A., left, and Nat Neff, highway superintendent of Orange county, who assisted in laying out the course, are shown inspecting one of the monuments in the upper right photograph. Below is a map of a portion of Orange county, showing the location of the course.

SPECIAL SHOW AUBURNS DRAW LARGE CROWDS

A special showing of Auburn convertible models is being made by dealers and distributors in various parts of the country.

Most of the dealers are displaying the cars in a way that shows the different advantages of the convertible type of automobile.

Some of the tops are down with windows left raised, giving the prospective customer an idea of the wind and weather protection which these glasses afford; others have the windshield and door glasses lowered as well as the top, while cars are also displayed with the top up, making a completely closed automobile.

The Auburn convertible models, really custom designs at production car prices, have sprung into decided popularity almost overnight, with more than 30 per cent of all Auburn cars sold in the first three months of 1931 of this type.

The convertible model differs from the closed model in that it can be converted into either an open or a closed car in a few minutes' time. Thus the advantages of both types are available to the owner with the purchase of only one car.

Obtainable first in custom-built cars ranging in prices from $6000 upwards, the convertible type was first made available by Auburn in a production car in 1931 Auburn convertibles are unusually dashing in design, with exclusive lines, giving them the appearance of custom-built cars.

The top may be lowered and the windows left raised for weather and wind protection, or in two minutes the motorist can raise the top and have a completely enclosed car.

Through the use of a special roller window channel the windows are positively rattle-proof and the super-braking eliminates any top weave.

Four models are available in the Auburn convertibles, a two-passenger cabriolet with rumble seat in standard and custom line, and a five-passenger phaeton sedan, also in standard and custom lines. All models have silent mesh transmissions and the custom models are also provided with L. G. S. free-wheeling with positive control lever which permits the driver to have free-wheeling completely or positive gear at will.

Governor In Praise Of New De Vaux

SAN LEANDRO, June 13.—Governor James Rolph Jr. probably covers more ground in a week than any other man in the state of California. He thinks nothing of eating his breakfast in Sacramento, his lunch in San Diego and having dinner at some point near the California-Oregon boundary.

Governor Rolph's idea is to keep contact with as many people in all sections of the state as he can. Two modes of transportation make it possible for him to do so—the automobile and the airplane.

When he crowned Queen Mary Columbus as head of San Leandro's annual cherry festival here the other day he flew to the Oakland airport in a specially chartered ship and from the airport he was taken to the festival grounds in a De Vaux 6-75 custom sedan.

"I must say that my old friend, Norman de Vaux builds an automobile that every Californian can be proud of," remarked Governor Rolph after he had been whisked from Oakland airport to the cherry festival grounds.

During the week of the cherry fête Queen Mary Columbus and her retinue were furnished with De Vaux 6-75's as their official cars.

CONVERTIBLE SEDAN PUSHED BY LINCOLN

In the distinguished convertible sedan on the new Lincoln chassis, Dietrich combined the luxurious comfort of a closed body with the compact grace of a swift, open car. The body is completely convertible. It may be transformed into a sedan for informal, family use, a formal chauffeur-driven car with closed rear compartment, or a flashing open car for fast weather driving.

The top may be folded entirely below the level of the belt line so as to afford excellent vision to the passengers. The interior seats five passengers in comfort. A center arm rest is provided in the back seat, which may be folded back to before part of the back cushion.

The body is furnished with a partition glass back of the driver's seat, permitting it to be converted into either an owner-driven or a chauffeur-driven car, an especially appealing feature for

MARKERS ON 100,000 U. S. HIGHWAYS NOW

Motor tourists making interstate trips this vacation season will find standard markers for the numbered routes of the U. S. Highway system for a distance of nearly 100,000 miles of improved roads, it is announced. The erection of markers has been practically completed and it is greatly facilitating motor travel.

California, it is understood, was among the first, if not the first state to complete the federal highway marking under the number system. In the northern part of the state this was done by the California State Automobile Association, and in this section it was done by the Automobile Club of Southern California, which devoted the entire energies of its signposting department to the task as soon as the government authorization was received. As a result, the markers in this state have been in place more than a year.

In Southern California the numbered federal highways are 101 and 99 running north and south. The transcontinental routes are 66 to Needles, 80 from San Diego to Yuma, and 91, which is the Arrowhead Trail.

WILLARD WILL FREE WHEELING GIVE BATTERY ON HUPPS IS SERVICE FREE GIVEN PRAISE

Few motorists realize the necessity of testing the charge of a storage battery at regular intervals.

"This point is one of the important features of our Willard service to motorists—testing each cell of the storage battery," says E. A. Matthews, of the local Willard service station.

"Each cell should be tested periodically at a battery service station. As the specific gravity of a battery varies with the period of discharge, testing the gravity with a hydrometer keeps a check on the state of charge of the driver's battery. Each cell should be tested individually and a record made of the reading taken at the time of test.

"There is no season of the year when the testing of the battery should be neglected. In the summer time the battery should be tested so that it will not be ruined by excessive charging.

"A definite record is taken, when we test a battery of the specific gravity of each cell, written down in the presence of the car owner on a test card supplied him. Any variation in subsequent readings should be an indication of trouble, either in the battery or in the electrical system. The prompt removal of the trouble

DETROIT, Mich., June 13.—The introduction by Hupmobile of free wheeling on all 1931 models has brought peans of praise for this new motoring sensation from many prominent women drivers. From the feminine driving contingent comes pretty Wynne Gibson, featured Paramount Pictures player who is elated at this new driving thrill and the handling ease of free wheeling. "I am enthusiastic over free wheeling," declared Miss Gibson during a spin on Hollywood boulevard. "and after a ride in the new Hupmobile I can truthfully say that it gives a delightful new motoring sensation."

Hupmobile's free wheeling is particularly appreciated by women drivers because use of the clutch is reduced 67 per cent, second gear operation is as quiet as third and gear-shifting is unbelievably simple because it is not necessary to use the clutch when shifting between second and third speeds.

Miss Gibson's latest appearance is in "Kick In," a picture which recently opened in New York. It will save the motorist time, annoyance and money. Testing is done for the customer's protection.

OLD TIRES ON CAR DANGEROUS SAYS DEALER

"Many car owners are planning to drive on their last summer's tires until they've delivered their last inch of mileage. They call it economy. Any tire man will tell you that it is a source of the gravest danger—driving on smooth worn tires," says Mr. Lyon, of Lyon's Tire Service, local Kelly-Springfield tire dealer.

"More automobile accidents occur in summer than in any other season. More cars are on the road. Long evenings invite late driving. Longer trips are made than in winter. People drive at faster speeds. And hot weather is hard on tires. If your tires are smooth or worn, you're inviting skidding, sliding and even blow-outs. You are gambling with what are sources of thousands of automobile accidents each year. And it is a very doubtful form of economy.

"Your tires will protect you with safe mileage only so long as the edge of the non-skid tread remains sharp and clear. It may seem hard to discard tires with many miles of wear left in them merely because the tread is worn smooth. But the safe driver will either do just that or buy tires that retain their tread farther than in their mileage. Kelly-Springfield tires have set the quality standard in the tire industry for 37 years. They are famous for safe mileage as they are for long mileage, because they retain the sharp-edge contact of their tread for more thousands of miles than any other tire I know. If life and limb are worthy of consideration, discard your last year's worn tires before it is too late. Equip your car with safe miles and enjoy a summer as pleasant as it is safe."

UNIQUE CHRYSLER VISITS SANTA ANA

The Chrysler "moving picture" car driven by Lieut. Jack Rinearson, was a visitor in Santa Ana this week. The car has more than 100 photographs cemented onto the body which tell a pictorial story of the great Pacific Northwest. While in Santa Ana it visited at the Headley Motor Car company's show rooms, local Chrysler dealers. In the picture, reading from left to right is Franklin West, exalted ruler of the local lodge of Elks; John Knox, Mayor of Santa Ana and Lieut. Rinearson. The car is being used to publicize the National Elks convention next month in Washington.

BEAUTIFUL NEW CHRYSLER SEEN IN SANTA ANA

Working in the interests of the forthcoming Elks national convention in Seattle, Lieutenant Jack Rinearson, U. S. A., retired, arrived in Santa Ana Tuesday driving the most unusual Chrysler that has ever visited this city.

Rinearson has perfected a way of making ordinary enlarged photographs stick to steel, and the outside of his car is literally "papered" with pictures of Seattle, Tacoma, and the vacation lands lying adjacent to Puget Sound.

The car, with its photographic "paint job" has been on the road for about two months and neither heat, rain nor hail has dimmed the lustre of the pictures. Rinearson is keeping his process a secret and until someone succeeds in duplicating the process, his will be the only car in the United States to boast such decorations.

This Chrysler has been selected by the Elks' headquarters in Seattle to lead the procession of automobiles which will leave Los Angeles July 1 to attend the Northern confab. It is estimated that more than 1000 cars will be in the caravan which will leave under police escort, be met with special entertainment at the state capital and wind up in Seattle with a welcome from Governor Roland H. Hartley.

BLOW-OUT FATAL ON GOOD ROAD

TIRE blow-outs kill motorists

driving under the most favorable conditions. They are especially dangerous, of course, when they occur in crowded traffic, on slippery pavements or when descending steep grades. Even when none of these conditions prevail, they are often fatal.

Above is pictured the wreck of a car in which one man was killed and three others injured when a tire blow-out caused the car to turn over four times until it stopped in a ditch, near Spirit Lake, Minn.

The road was perfectly level, there was plenty of traction on the hard dirt road-bed and no other cars were near—but, a man died when a tire blew out.

"There is no such thing as too much safety," says William O'Neill, president of the General Tire and Rubber Company, which recently announced a blow-out proof tire.

Reports received by the safety division of this company indicate that the above accident has been duplicated, in its essential features, hundreds of times throughout the country.

FATALITIES IN L. A. INCREASE GREATLY

Fatalities in traffic in Los Angeles city and country for the first five months of this year increased more than 10 per cent, according to a provisional report prepared by the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Up to June 1 there had been 322 deaths, compared with 292 for the first five months of 1930.

Deaths of children of school age, however, are one less than in the same period last year, with a total of 23.

Crossing streets carelessly and crossing streets not at intersections were the leading causes of these fatal accidents in traffic, it is indicated in an analysis of the fatalities.

DESOTO CARS KEEP COOL IN WARM WEATHER

Cool operation of De Soto engines accounts for some of its long life. The water spaces have been very carefully laid out so that the water flow is uniform around all the parts that require cooling.

Tests have been made in the laboratory, which indicate an exact uniformity of the temperature of the different cylinders. The tests were made by drilling the water jackets at different points and inserting thermometers. The readings indicated that all cylinders are being equally cooled regardless of their location, thus proving the efficiency of the internal baffling system which controls the flow of the water.

A cross section of the engine discloses that the water flows freely between all the cylinders as well as around the valves and the spark plugs. The cylinder heads are also cooled perfectly so that the heat from the combustion chambers is taken away rapidly and uniformly.

The fact that all cylinders are operating under exactly the same thermal conditions is very important. The temperature of any cylinder affects the condition of the oil as well as the rate of expansion of the metal parts. It is, therefore, very closely bound up with the life of the engine and is one of the reasons why it is claimed that extraordinary life is designed into the De Soto engines.

ONE CAR FOR EVERY 55 PEOPLE IN WORLD

There is one automobile for every 55 persons in the world, according to reports reaching the Automobile Club of Southern California. The United States has more than 11 times the average, it is indicated, as there is one vehicle for each 4.5 inhabitants. Outside of the United States the

'NO SMOKING' SIGNS MEANS WOMEN TOO

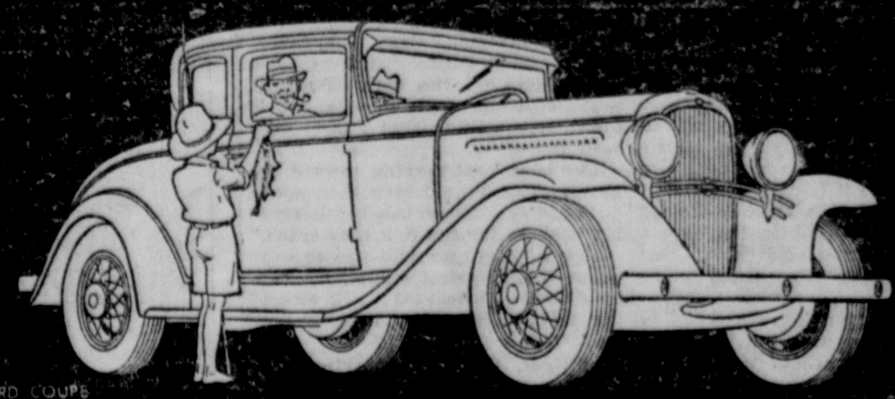

When a "no smoking" sign is seen in the public forest reserve, it means women as well as men, says a carefully worded statement from the state forester's office.

Women who smoke cigarettes in California assume a new obligation as well as equal rights with the men, it is stated. Either a well-listed man or a dainty flapper may easily start a disastrous fire by tossing a lighted cigarette stub carelessly from a train or automobile window.

Since the automobile club suggests it is appropriate this year to sound a warning to smokers, "beginning as 1:30 the speaker in the old-time circus, "ladies and gentlemen."

California has nearly 100 times this average with an automobile for every 3.5 persons, or more than one to each family in the state.

The Rev. C. C. Root of Anaheim, delivered the invocation following an ovation played by the high school orchestra. The class song, composed by Katherine McCullagh and Willard Bath, was sung by the class. Other numbers were played by the Fremont orchestra. Officials of Santa Ana Airways located at 2600 West First street have planned several new thrillers for Sunday.

The parachute jump should provide the biggest thrill of all. Instead of opening one parachute and floating to earth with it in the customary manner, the parachute jumper will open one chute which he will ride for about 250 feet, then he will open a second parachute and come to earth with two parachutes fully open. The parachute jump will take place about five o'clock.

Art Anderson, chief pilot, will go aloft and stunt for the crowd. He will show how wingovers, loops, and tailspins are done.

REALTORS HEAR ADDRESS ABOUT USE OF TRUSTS

Choosing as his subject "Trusts, Their Purpose and Advantages," L. B. Armstrong, assistant trust officer for the First National bank, was the principal speaker at yesterday's session of the Santa Ana Realty board in Ketter's cafe. He prefaced his address by saying:

"In spite of the great amount of advertising and missionary work being done by the trust companies and banks there are still quite a few people who think that a trust is the very worst form of property management and by all means should be avoided. That is because they do not really know what a trust is or because they have contacted a trust in a way that has been adverse to their own business interests and could not be made to realize that the trustee was only carrying out the expressed wishes of someone who has passed on and whose definite instructions could not be amended."

Armstrong explained the various types of trusts and how they are operated. An important item in creating a trust is said to be the fact that trusts administered by banks or other trust organizations never can be affected even though the banking house named as administrator, Trust and banking records are kept separated and even cash belonging to the trust and on deposit in a bank is protected by government bonds valued at 11 per cent of the amount deposited.

Mayor John Knox spoke briefly and asked the realtors to create a point of contact with the Commercial association and to send delegates, if possible, to the next meeting of this organization, which will be held on the night of June 16 at the new hotel in Laguna Beach. At this meeting the Orange county water situation will be the principal topic for discussion.

PLAN TO ISSUE COMPLAINT IN ACCIDENT CASE

Following a coroner's inquest conducted today in the death of John W. Routledge, 69, Katella rancher, who was fatally injured Thursday night in Fullerton, legal machinery was under way for charging Marvin W. Raymond, of Maywood, driver of the car which collided with the rancher's machine, with second degree murder.

An investigation of the accident was made by Leo Ellis, deputy district attorney, at the request of the son of the crash victim. Ellis said this morning the complaint would be issued at once.

The coroner's jury decided that the rancher's death was caused by the failure of Raymond to stop at the boulevard stop at Orangehorpe and Spadra avenues and his excessive speed at the intersection.

Funeral services for the accident victim will be held from the McCaulay and Suters parlors in Fullerton Monday morning at 10 o'clock, with interment in Loma Vista cemetery.

REVIEW SHOWS CONDITION OF GRAIN MARKET

Domestic wheat markets were very unsettled during the week ending June 11, influenced by unfavorable weather conditions in spring wheat areas, the rapidly approaching harvest of winter wheat and the withdrawal from the market of the support of domestic marketing agencies, according to the Weekly Grain Market Review of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Feed grains, on the other hand, held generally steady although demand continued dull and of small volume for the moderate offerings. Corn made rather slow growth because of cool weather and much replanting is reported in numerous areas. The rice market was generally dull and quiet, but had some independent strength as a result of the unfavorable outlook for the 1931 crop. Flax strengthened toward the close of the week under a more active inquiry from crushers for cash seed and rather unfavorable reports concerning the condition of the new crop.

WHEAT: Crop conditions continued to play an important part in the wheat market during the week. Winter wheat prices continued favorable and harvesting has begun in northern central and northwestern Kansas and in Nebraska are in need of moisture but in other sections conditions remained favorable and harvesting is expected to begin in southeastern Kansas about June 15, and elsewhere in that state by the close of the month. Private estimates as of June 1 placed the domestic winter wheat crop around 75 million bushels above last season's harvest. Drought in the Canadian Prairie provinces and in the American northwest is threatening serious damage to spring wheat unless good general rains occur soon. The official Canadian crop report indicated a critical condition in the entire western region of normally heaviest production. The good germination of early sown wheat has been particularly offset by high winds and frost damage while germination of late sowing has been delayed by deficiency of soil moisture. During the week have been beneficial in southern Alberta and parts of Manitoba, but more moisture is still needed. Conditions of domestic spring wheat at present indicates an out-turn of around 30 million bushels below last year's crop, according to the private trade estimates.

Despite the rather unfavorable outlook for spring wheat in North America, world wheat crop prospects appear generally satisfactory. Russian seedling has progressed rapidly with the total acreage seeded to all grains up to May 25 placed at 164 million acres compared with 158 million acres at the corresponding time a year ago. Spring wheat acreage seeded to this date amounted to 49 million acres as against 45 million acres to the same date last year and comprised about 71 per cent of the planned acreage of 69 million acres. While rapid progress has been made during recent weeks, seeding in some important areas is still backward and individual peasant seedlings are generally proceeding very slowly. Reports on winter wheat in Russia are rather unfavorable with considerable winter killing in the lower Volga regions now becoming apparent. Seeding of the new Southern Hemisphere wheat crops is now in progress although additional rainfall in Argentina would facilitate seeding operations. Seeding conditions in Australia have improved, but a sharp decrease in acreage is still in prospect.
